South Fork Walla Walla

The South Fork Walla Walla trail is popular for hiking, mountain biking, horseback riding, and motorcycling. After a 3-mile hike along the beautiful South Fork Walla Walla River, you enter the Umatilla National Forest, and trails continue from there. The Trailhead provides a great place to relax and picnic beside the South Fork Walla Walla River.

This area is very special and was designated an Area of Critical Environmental Concern (ACEC) in 1994. In order to prevent the deterioration of the area's resource value and provide for public safety, the 1,955 acre ACEC was closed to overnight camping.

Activities:

Facilities: The trailhead provides parking, vault toilets, and a picnicking area.

Season: Open year-round.

Other: 38,000 acres of OHV area is located 4 miles northeast on South Fork Walla Walla trail on National Forest Land.
